TPV Display Electronics chose Ruukki for cooperation in the construction project - the company decided to build a modern warehouse together with production facilities.

Ruukki was responsible for the delivery of steel structures, wall and roof claddings and design documentation. Ruukki's offer has won thanks to optimal technical solutions, raw material savings and selection of reliable and recognizable subcontractors. The use of structure based on lightweight purlins enabled to save 50% of raw material needed for the secondary roof steel structure.

Complexity of services, high safety standards and close cooperation enabling fast and effective reactions to potential problems were key factors for the Investor, who is now planning to work with Ruukki on further extension of the building.
