The building's architect, Mattias Agabus, aimed to create a representative building with a standout façade that reflects the values of Hekamerk while also serving as a meeting place for professionals. The dark green "pine tree" tone, inspired by the company's visual identity, creates a visual link between the surrounding local pine forest and the space, where people meet and ideas come to life.

The biggest challenge was achieving the precise tones of the dark façade materials. The final result was successfully achieved through the smart use of standard colors.

The end client was particularly pleased with the horizontal installation of the large-format façade cassettes. This solution emerged from the creative and well-coordinated collaboration of all parties involved and gives the building a distinctive and dignified appearance.
