

Helsinki Olympic Stadium

The Helsinki Olympic Stadium received a partial covering.

The Helsinki Olympic Stadium received only partial covering, a solution that fit well with both the landscape and cost requirements.

The roof covering the stadium's east stand can cover about 15,000 of the maximum 40,600 people the stadium can seat. The amount of roof covered seats was tripled, since before there was room for 5,500 people under the main stand's roof.

The design for the stadium roof was chosen through a design contest. This design won the contest, as it fit well with the stadium, without having too dominant features.