The aim was to build a modern multifunctional sports complex that will provide services not only for professionals, but also for amateurs and the general public. The intention was successful and today there is a sports arena in Krásno nad Kysucou with a hockey hall, an excellent restaurant and a wellness centre, where athletes and visitors can regenerate after a demanding workout or just relax in the sauna or whirlpool. In addition to the all-season ice rink, fitness and wellness centre, there are also congress halls for trainings, family or corporate celebrations and a children's corner.

The envelope of the sports arena consists of sandwich panels with a mineral wool core and concealed fixing delivered by Ruukki, which are an ideal solution for this type of building.
